Bespoke PVC-U Fenestration Solutions Transform Six Luxury Cabins in Lincolnshire

- PVC-U Anthracite Grey exterior/white interior casement windows, French doors, bi-folds, and bespoke angled windows enhanced the cabins' aesthetic and outdoor connection
- Timely completion allowed for the cabins to be swiftly listed for staycations

Nestled in Lincolnshire's Wyberton House, six luxury lakeside cabins designed by Jon Padley, offer a serene escape within an Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty. Surrounded by seaside beaches, RSPB marshland, and historic towns, the cabins boast spectacular sunsets and starry skies.

Fenea and Eurocell collaborated to provide bespoke PVC-U fenestration solutions, including Anthracite Grey casement windows, French doors, bi-fold doors, and uniquely angled windows. These enhancements create an instant wow-factor, amplifying the allure of an alfresco lifestyle and connecting guests to the scenic beauty.

Challenge

Amidst the stunning scenery of Lincolnshire, Jon Padley of Towermist Ltd dared to dream up a cluster of six log cabins to grace the Wyberton House grounds. Fenea faced the task of supplying and installing PVC-U fenestration solutions of the highest quality, tailored to blend seamlessly with the surroundings and provide optimal comfort for holidaymakers. Complicating matters were the unusually angled windows, adding an extra layer of complexity to the project. Yet, with determination and expertise, Fenea rose to the challenge, striving to create an enchanting lakeside retreat for all six cabins.

"Working with a long standing fabricator partner, ATT Fabrications Ltd from Spennymoor, and Jon Padley, owner of Towermist, we supplied, delivered and successfully installed these high quality windows and doors in accordance with Towermist's requirements, and ensured that the opening date for the site was achieved.

Everyone is pleased with the final look that was achieved, and holidaymakers from up and down the country are enjoying these fantastic lodges."
